The Organiser is not obliged to state the reasons for not accepting an application.
5. The Organiser reserves the right to recognize and promote selected Conference participants who contribute to the event's organization, promotion, or delivery as Partners, Main Partners, or Industrial Partners, including corporate entities providing challenges for the Startup Showcases (see "The Startup Showcases" section below). 2. The Conference participants are allowed to stay within the Conference area only during the opening hours specified by the Organiser.
3. At the venue of the Event, it is absolutely forbidden to bring and use any weapons, ammunition and pyrotechnic materials, harmful chemicals, or open fire posing a risk of fire or damage to property and a threat to health, life and public safety, nor is it allowed to bring in and consume any alcohol or intoxicants, smoke cigarettes or use electronic cigarettes (outside designated places), behave in a manner inconsistent with the principles of social coexistence or disturb public order.
4. In the event of a breach, the Organiser may require the Participant to stop the conduct. In the event of a serious threat or continued breach, the Organiser may refuse further participation in the Event and require the Participant to leave the Event Area.
5. Participants are liable for any damage caused by them to the property of the Organiser, the venue operator or third parties, in accordance with generally applicable law.

The Start-up Showcase

1. As part of the Event, the Organiser will host a Start-up Showcase, during which Start-ups selected by the Organiser will present concrete use cases, products, or product concepts developed using CloudFerro's cloud infrastructure and services, intended for implementation by business or institutional entities designated by the Organiser in accordance with paragraph 5 of the General Provisions (hereinafter referred to as "Industry Partners"). For the purposes of these Rules, "Start-up" means an entrepreneur (and not a consumer) selected by the Organiser to take part in the Start-up Showcase.
2. The Organiser selects the Start-ups at its sole discretion, taking into account in particular the relevance of the proposed use case to the challenges indicated by the Industry Partners, its technical feasibility on the Organiser's infrastructure and its business potential. Submitting an application does not give rise to any claim to be selected, to be allocated presentation time or to receive Cloud Credits. The Organiser may refuse to select, or may exclude, a Start-up that is, or whose owners or members of management bodies are, subject to sanctions or restrictive measures imposed by the European Union, the United Nations or the Republic of Poland, or whose participation could otherwise expose the Organiser to legal or reputational risk.

3. Participation in the Start-up Showcase does not result in the transfer or grant of any intellectual property rights, save as expressly provided in paragraph 4 below. In particular, the Organiser does not acquire, and shall not claim, any intellectual property rights to products, use cases, concepts, or solutions developed by a Start-up or an Industry Partner, whether independently or jointly, in connection with the Start-up Showcase or the Event. Likewise, neither a Start-up nor an Industry Partner acquires any rights to the Organiser's services, software, documentation, trade marks or other intellectual property, save for the right to use the services in accordance with the Service Terms referred to in paragraph 11 below.
4. Each Start-up grants the Organiser a non-exclusive, royalty-free licence, without territorial limitation, for the duration of the Event and for 24 months thereafter, to use the Start-up's name and logo and the presentation materials made available by the Start-up for the Start-up Showcase, for the purposes of organising, recording, broadcasting, documenting and promoting the Event, in the following fields of exploitation: (a) recording and reproduction by any technique, including printing and digital techniques; (b) public display, presentation and performance; (c) broadcasting, including live streaming, and making available to the public in such a way that anyone may access them at a place and time of their own choosing, in particular on the Event website and the Organiser's social media channels. The Start-up represents that it holds all rights necessary to present these materials and to grant this licence, and that their presentation and use in accordance with these Rules will not infringe the rights of third parties, and shall hold the Organiser harmless against any third-party claims in this respect.
5. The Organiser, at its sole discretion, may make cloud credits ("Cloud Credits") available to a Start-up participating in the Start-up Showcase, in whole or in part, to support the preparation of a use case, product, or product concept intended for presentation to, or use by, an Industry Partner.
6. Independently of paragraph 5 above, the Organiser may make Cloud Credits available to a Start-up under the CloudFerro Launch start-up programme to support the implementation of the Start-up's product by an Industry Partner. Cloud Credits under this paragraph are granted in accordance with the terms of the CloudFerro Launch programme and these Rules.
7. Cloud Credits are granted on the basis of a confirmation issued by the Organiser in documentary form and accepted by the Start-up (the "Cloud Credits Confirmation"). The Cloud Credits Confirmation specifies in particular the amount of Cloud Credits, their validity period, the purpose for which they may be used, the entity obliged to conclude the Commercial Agreement, the time limit for its conclusion and its minimum committed value. Unless the Cloud Credits

Confirmation provides otherwise, Cloud Credits: (a) are valid for 12 months from their activation and expire automatically thereafter; (b) may be used only for the Organiser's services and only for the purpose indicated in the Cloud Credits Confirmation; (c) are non-transferable, have no cash value and cannot be exchanged for cash or any other benefit; and (d) are consumed according to the Organiser's price list applicable at the time of use.

8. Cloud Credits granted under paragraph 7 above are granted on condition that, within the time limit specified in the Cloud Credits Confirmation and in any event before the product is put into production use, an agreement for the purchase of the Organiser's cloud infrastructure and services, concluded for a term of at least 6 months and with the minimum committed value specified in the Cloud Credits Confirmation (the "Commercial Agreement"), is entered into with the Organiser. If the Commercial Agreement is not concluded above, or if Cloud Credits are used in breach of these Rules, the Cloud Credits Confirmation or the Service Terms, the Organiser may suspend or cancel any unused Cloud Credits with immediate effect.
9. The maximum amount of Cloud Credits made available to a single Start-up under paragraphs 3 and 4 above shall not exceed EUR 100,000 (one hundred thousand euro) calculated according to the Organiser's price list. This amount constitutes an upper limit and not an entitlement; the value of Cloud Credits actually granted is determined in the Cloud Credits Confirmation.
10. Any request for Cloud Credits exceeding the amount referred to in paragraph 9 above falls outside the scope of these Rules. The Organiser is under no obligation to consider such a request, and any additional Cloud Credits may be granted only under a separate agreement between the Organiser and the Start-up concerned.
11. The use of the Organiser's services, including services used with Cloud Credits, is governed by the Organiser's General Terms and Conditions, the applicable service-specific terms, the price list and, where the Organiser processes personal data on behalf of the user, the Organiser's data processing agreement, in each case as published on the Organiser's website (the "Service Terms"). In the event of any inconsistency, the Service Terms prevail as regards the use of the services, and these Rules and the Cloud Credits Confirmation prevail as regards the grant, amount, validity and conditions of Cloud Credits.
12. Any tax consequences of receiving Cloud Credits shall be borne by the recipient in accordance with applicable law.

Image, Recordings and Personal Data

1. The Event, including the Start-up Showcase, will be photographed and filmed, and may be streamed live or recorded, by the Organiser or by persons acting on its behalf. The resulting materials may be published on the Event website, on the Organiser's social media channels and in the Organiser's informational, promotional and marketing materials.
2. The image of Participants captured only as a detail of a whole, such as the audience, a group of Participants or the Event as a public event, may be disseminated without separate permission, in accordance with applicable law.
3. Dissemination of the image of speakers, panellists, moderators and Start-up representatives presenting at the Event, and of other Participants where their image is not merely a detail of a whole, requires the permission of the person concerned, granted in a separate declaration (in particular in the registration form or in a speaker agreement). Such permission covers the use of the image, without time or territorial limitation, for the purposes indicated in paragraph 1 above and may be withdrawn at any time with effect for the future; withdrawal does not oblige the Organiser to withdraw materials already distributed, but the Organiser will remove the image from its online channels within a reasonable time.
4. Participants who do not wish to be photographed or filmed may notify the Organiser's staff at the registration desk, and the Organiser will take reasonable steps to respect such request.
5. The controller of the personal data of Participants is the Organiser. Personal data matters may be addressed to iod@cloudferro.com.
6. Personal data of Participants are processed for the following purposes: (a) registration for and organisation of the Event, including admission to the Event Area and communication with Participants, on the basis of Article 6(1)(b) of Regulation (EU) 2016/679 (GDPR) or, where the Participant represents an organisation, the Organiser's legitimate interest in organising the Event (Article 6(1)(f) GDPR); (b) documenting and promoting the Event, including dissemination of the image in accordance with this section, on the basis of the Organiser's legitimate interest (Article 6(1)(f) GDPR) or, where required, the Participant's consent (Article 6(1)(a) GDPR); (c) administering the Start-up Showcase and Cloud Credits and preparing Commercial Agreements, on the basis of the Organiser's legitimate interest (Article 6(1)(f) GDPR); (d) establishing, pursuing or defending claims, on the basis of the Organiser's legitimate interest (Article 6(1)(f) GDPR); and (e) sending commercial information by electronic means, only on the basis of a separate consent.
7. Personal data may be disclosed to entities providing services to the Organiser in connection with the Event (in particular the venue operator, event agencies and IT, streaming and photography service providers) acting on the Organiser's behalf, and to entities entitled under the law.

8. Participants have the right to access their personal data, to rectification, erasure and restriction of processing, to data portability, to object to processing based on the Organiser's legitimate interest and, where processing is based on consent, to withdraw consent at any time without affecting the lawfulness of processing carried out before its withdrawal. Participants also have the right to lodge a complaint with the President of the Personal Data Protection Office (Prezes Urzędu Ochrony Danych Osobowych).
9. Where a Participant is registered by an organisation, that organisation shall provide the Participant with the information set out in this section.

Liability and Complaints

1. The Organiser is liable towards Participants only for damage caused intentionally or through gross negligence. The Organiser is not liable for lost profits, for the loss of or damage to Participants' personal belongings, or for the consequences of any change, postponement or cancellation of the Event referred to in the "Final Provisions" section. These limitations do not apply to damage to life or health, or to the extent that the limitation or exclusion of liability is not permitted by mandatory provisions of law.
2. The Organiser's liability in connection with Cloud Credits and the services used with them is governed exclusively by the Service Terms, provided that services used with Cloud Credits are provided free of charge and without any service level commitments, unless the Service Terms provide otherwise.
3. Complaints concerning the organisation of the Event or the application of these Rules may be submitted by e-mail to events@cloudferro.com and should include the name and contact details of the person submitting the complaint and a description of the issue. The Organiser will respond to a complaint within 14 days of its receipt. Complaints concerning the services used with Cloud Credits are handled in accordance with the Service Terms.

Final Provisions

1. The Rules come into effect on the day of their publication on the Event website: TBC
2. The Organiser may amend these Rules for important reasons, in particular a change in applicable law, a change of the venue, format or agenda of the Event, requirements of the venue operator or public authorities, or a change in the conditions of the Start-up Showcase.

3. Registered Participants will be notified of any amendment by e-mail. The amended Rules apply from the date indicated in the notification, which shall be no earlier than 3 days after the notification, unless the amendment is required by law or by circumstances beyond the Organiser's control. A Participant who does not accept the amendment may resign from participation in the Event. Amendments do not affect Cloud Credits already granted under a Cloud Credits Confirmation, unless the Start-up agrees otherwise.
4. The Organiser reserves the right to change the agenda of the Event, in particular, the hours of speeches or the hosts of the Event.
5. The Organiser may cancel, partially close, shorten or postpone the Event to another date, in particular in the event of circumstances beyond its control (including force majeure, decisions of public authorities, unavailability of the venue or threats to the safety of Participants), as well as for other important organisational reasons. Participants will be informed by e-mail and on the Event website without undue delay. In such cases Participants are not entitled to reimbursement of any costs incurred in connection with the Event, including travel or accommodation costs, subject to paragraph 1 of the "Liability and Complaints" section.
6. These Rules are governed by the laws of the Republic of Poland. In matters not covered by these Rules, the provisions of Polish law, in particular the Civil Code, and directly applicable European Union law shall apply.
7. Any disputes arising in connection with the Event or these Rules shall be settled by the common court having jurisdiction over the Organiser's registered office, save where mandatory provisions of law provide otherwise, in particular with respect to consumers.
8. If any provision of these Rules is found to be invalid or unenforceable, the remaining provisions shall remain in full force and effect.
